Criminal Defense Lawyer and Murder Cases

'Though shall not kill' – this is one of the Ten Commandments and people valued such commandments many years ago. People back then are afraid of committing such an offense. Murder cases were very rare during that time but now, things are quite different. It seems that more and more individuals are involved in murder cases. Murder is a very harsh case and so you need a competent and experienced criminal defense lawyer.

There may still be a chance to prove that you're innocent and that would depend on the capabilities of your defense lawyer. If you're innocent, you will need to hire a very good defense lawyer so that when you're brought for questioning in court, you don't have to worry about anything. A defense lawyer will be appointed for accused individuals who can't afford to pay for legal services.

According to statistics, success rates are higher when the accused hires a private lawyer. So if you have money, try to look for a good private defense lawyer to ensure success.

Once you find a competent lawyer, you can now work together to develop an effective defense strategy. You need to be very honest to your lawyer. If you're innocent, you must be able to prove to the jury that you did not commit the crime. Now, suppose you committed the murder, what can you do? The lawyer will be able to help you in convincing the jury that there were circumstances which compelled you to commit the crime.

There are times when the murder was due to temporary insanity or perhaps for self defense. A thorough psychiatrist examination is usually carried out to prove this possibility because there are those who intentionally fake it just to get away from the crime they committed. The arraignment will be arranged and after that, the trial date is set. You will need to make a plea – whether guilty or not guilty.
